

2016 was an incredible year for campaigning and advocacy on water, sanitation and hygiene (WASH). We saw the beginning of the new Sustainable Development Goals, which set our development agenda until 2030. Governments need to make these a reality at the national level and implement country level road maps on how to achieve this ambitious agenda. We have to move quickly to fix what needs to be done and how we can all work together to achieve this progressive change!

Join us in March 2017!

We have come far, but still have a long way to go. We have to ensure that no one is left behind.

Now is the time for action.
Governments, keep your promises.

With only 14 years left, we have to make every second count. Add your voice in Water Action Month 2017 to ensure a better future!

Water is life.
Sanitation is dignity.
Unite for change.
